

Sara Brborich

Personal Information

Name: Sara Lucía Brborich Herrera
E-mail: sbrborich@uni-bonn.de
Personal e-mail: slbrborich@gmail.com
Github Repository : SaraBrborich
Country of citizenship: Ecuador

Fields of Interest

Applied Macroeconomics, with interests in Production Networks, Firm Dynamics, and Income Inequality.

Education

Universidad San Francisco de Quito (USFQ) Quito, Ecuador
B.S. in Economics: GPA 3.7/4, Magna Cum Laude. 2020 - 2024.
Thesis: "Poverty Traps and Intergenerational Mobility: Evidence from 33 years of Labor Surveys for Ecuador".

Current Position

MSc Economics Student, University of Bonn. October 2025 – Present
Research Assistant, Institute for Macroeconomics and Econometrics, November 2025 – Present
University of Bonn.
Project: "Growing like Korea," supervised by Joachim Jungherr and Chi Hyun Kim.

Relevant Experience

Projects as co-author

"Network Transmission of Fiscal Demand Shocks in Commodity-Dependent Economies" (with Carlos Uribe-Terán, Wladimir Zanon- IDB, Diego F. Grijalva, and Osmel Manzano- IDB). IDB Working Paper No. IDB-WP-01793, IDB, 2026.

"From Preferences to Reciprocity: Firm Adjustment after the EU-Ecuador Free Trade Agreement" (with Carlos Uribe-Terán and Diego Grijalva). Book chapter in Las relaciones Ecuador-Unión Europea en el siglo XXI.

Consulting

June 2025 – October 2025

Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), Productivity, Trade and Innovation Sector (PTI).

Research Assistant

May 2023 – May 2025

"The Contractionary Effects of Protectionist Trade Policy" (with Carlos Uribe-Terán, Iván Gachet and Diego Grijalva). Rev World Econ 161, 821–868 (2025).

"How do Trade Restrictions Affect Market Diversity?" (with Carlos Uribe-Terán, Diego F. Grijalva, and Iván Gachet). IDB Working Paper No. IDB-WP-01687, IDB, 2025.

“Reallocation under Protectionism: Firm-Level Evidence from a Trade Shock” (with Carlos Uribe-Terán, Diego F. Grijalva, and Iván Gachet). SSRN Working Paper, 2025.

“Evaluation of the Value Added Tax refund program for elderly population in Ecuador” (with Carlos Uribe-Terán, José Martínez- IDB and Alejandro Rastaletti- IDB). Fiscal Management Division, IDB, Washington D.C., 2024.

Teaching Assistant

Advanced Macroeconomics

January 2025 – May 2025

Mathematical Methods

August 2023 – December 2024

Awards and Grants

Best Undergraduate Research Paper. School of Economics, USFQ, 2024.

Awarded research grant by the Economics Grant Evaluation of the School of Economics, USFQ, 2024.

Conference Presentations

II Encuentro Anual de la Asociación de Economía del Ecuador. Cuenca, Ecuador.

June 2024

Welfare and Policies in LAC: Advances and Challenges Ahead. San José, Costa Rica.

May 2024

Leadership and Volunteering Activities

Local Chair, Tercer Congreso Anual de la Asociación de Economía del Ecuador.

January 2025 – June 2025

Co-leader of the Experimental and Computational Economics Laboratory Research Group, USFQ.

August 2022 – September 2023

Volunteer at Fundación para Servir en Cristo (FUNSEC).

May 2022 – July 2022

Languages

Spanish (Native), English (Professional Competence).

Specialized Software

Stata, C++, R, $\LaTeX$, Python, Matlab, Mata, OCR-based data extraction.

References

Carlos Uribe-Terán, PhD.

Associate Professor, School of Economics - USFQ, Quito, Ecuador.

cauribe@usfq.edu.ec

+593 99 147 5351

Diego Grijalva, PhD.

Associate Professor, College of Business Administration - USFQ, Quito, Ecuador.

dgrijalva@usfq.edu.ec

+593 99 770 0478

Wladimir Zanoni, PhD.

Senior Country Economist for Ecuador - IDB, Washington D.C., USA.

WLADIMIRZ@IADB.ORG

+1 (202) 655-1795